PURPOSE. Antique Radio Classified is published for people involved in the radio collecting hobby. Its purpose is to stimulate growth of the hobby through the buying, selling and trading of radios and related items, and to provide a monthly forum for the interchange of ideas and information.

CONTACTING ANTIQUE RADIO CLASSIFIED. All correspondence should be sent to:

A.R.C., P.O. Box 2, Carlisle, MA 01741.
Only UPS, Federal, etc. items to street address: One River Road.
Telephone: (978) 371-0512; Fax: (978) 371-7129
E-mail: ARC@antiqueradio.com – Web: www.antiqueradio.com
Please, no classified ads by telephone; thanks.

Your ads, renewals, letters, etc. can be handled faster and more efficiently if your name, address and SUB# are written on each.

Unfortunately, A.R.C. is not staffed to answer all letters with questions about antique radios or requests for advice. However, A.R.C. does solicit letters of interest to its readers and publishes them as space permits. (See "Publishing Rights" paragraph.)

GUARANTEE. You may cancel your subscription at any time and receive a pro rata refund for issues not yet mailed. If errors to ads are made by A.R.C., upon request a free correction will be run in the next available issue.

PAYMENT. Please send in full payment with your order or ad. A.R.C. does not carry accounts; all subscriptions, ads, etc. must be prepaid (except for the 6 and 12 month display ads indicated below). Pay in U.S. funds. Checks drawn on a U.S. bank, money orders, VISA or MasterCard ($10.00 min.) are preferred. Make check out to "A.R.C." U.S. stamps or cash are OK for small amounts. Canadian payers may send a Canadian check but specify U.S. funds. Subscriptions will be prorated to amount sent if amount is incorrect.

FAX & E-MAIL PROCEDURES/PAYMENT. Subscriptions, book orders, classified ads, display ads, etc. are welcome by fax or e-mail. Deadlines are the same as for ads received by mail. Please calculate the amount due. Payment by VISA or MasterCard is preferred if your order is over $10. If under $10, or if you prefer to send a check or money order, state the amount being sent and that the payment is in the mail. Do not send another copy of your ad with your payment; simply indicate that it is a fax or e-mail payment. If you want confirmation of our receipt of your fax, call immediately after sending your fax.

CHANGE OF ADDRESS. Please notify us 4 weeks in advance of a change of address. Send both your new and old addresses, and include your SUB# and effective date of your new address. Temporary address changes can be made also.

SUBMISSION OF MATERIAL. Antique Radio Classified welcomes and solicits information that pertains or relates to radio history or collecting. This may include articles, book reviews, photos, information on upcoming radio events, meetings, antique radio organizations, radio auctions, sources of old radio and restoration supplies, and other related and interesting material. All material submitted should be carefully researched, typed and accompanied by good photos, if appropriate. Computer disks are appreciated. Writing guidelines are available upon request.

PUBLISHING RIGHTS. Unless other arrangements are made: (1) All received materials (ads, articles, letters, correspondence, e-mail, photos, artwork, etc.) become the property of A.R.C., may be edited, combined with other material, published, and will not be returned. (2) For all received materials, A.R.C. is granted publishing and reprint rights in all forms of media including the monthly printed magazine, internet, etc. (3) Publication is subject to approval by A.R.C. and to time and space constraints.

MAILING OF ISSUES. U.S. subscribers can receive A.R.C. by First Class or Periodicals mail (Periodicals is the way most magazines are mailed). The mailing of First Class copies is staggered with faraway copies mailed before local copies. Non-U.S. copies are mailed on the first day. Periodicals copies are mailed on the last day. Mailing dates change each month, but mailing is usually completed by the 27th of the month. First Class copies usually are received by the 5th of the month; copies by Periodicals mail, by the 10th.

ETHICS. No person involved in the production of A.R.C. is to act on any information in the magazine until the first delivery day after local copies are mailed.

DISCLAIMER. The publisher is not responsible for any buying and selling transactions incurred, or for any other use of the contents of this publication.

Antique Radio Classified subscription rates, frequency of publication, content, policies, size and ad details, and rates are subject to change at any time by A.R.C.

DISPLAY AND BUSINESS CARD ADS – DETAILS AND RATES

The deadline is the first of the month for display and business card ad artwork, payment and repeat requests.

Advertising is accepted only for early items related to radio, communication, etc. All items must be described fairly; reproductions, reprints and not-original items must be so identified. Advertisers must agree to respond promptly to inquiries and orders, to resolve problems promptly if the buyer is not satisfied, and to comply with a buyer's refund request on unaltered returned items.

Advertising must be prepaid, except as noted below; see "Payment" paragraph above for details. Late ads will be run only if space and time permit. Since artwork is reduced to 63% in the printing process, originals must be the artwork size listed below. Do not send in artwork on art board or send negatives. Ads should be typeset or typed neatly with a carbon ribbon, black ink (not pencil) on white. If used, reverse type must be limited to 25% of the ad. If you want us to prepare your ad, include the one-time cost below for A.R.C. to make up the ad.

Photos should be at an 85-line screen; otherwise, add $16.00 per photo for screening. Do not cut or trim photos or glue photos to artwork; submit separately.

If you are confused by these requirements and terms, please contact A.R.C. before beginning to prepare your ad. We will be happy to advise you on your ad ideas, estimate how much the ad will cost, recommend an ad size, etc.

We assume that advertisers want all ads which are submitted to run without delay; therefore, we will run the ad and bill for any additional work required for the ad to meet these specifications. A late ad will run beginning with the next month. "Tear sheets" will be sent only for 1/8-page or larger ads and only if requested when the ad is submitted.

First business card per advertiser is at lower rate.

The 3-month rates represent about an 11% discount, the 6-month rates 23%, the 12-month rates 30%. Placement requests: add 15% but call first. Clubs: write for discount policy.

EDITOR'S COMMENTS

What a difference 80 years make! Yes, it's been about that long since the pioneer who owned the wireless station pictured on our cover was experimenting with loops of wire, speakers, batteries, vacuum tubes, etc. But, in comparing the technology of then to now, the words of an old song come to mind — "What a difference a day makes." Today, a cellphone contains the equivalent of the equipment you see in the photo, and innovations seem to appear overnight. Still, that pioneer in the photo and others like him must be credited with helping to make the modern miracle of pocket communication possible.

Our lead article grew out of this photo for which we thank Don Iverson. We're also pleased that Jim Kreuzer and Jim Chew agreed to analyze the contents of the station. And that process triggered a memory for your editor — somewhere in his archives was a photo of yet another wireless station. The found photo led to the idea of challenging our readers to study the contents of this station and help us to develop a story about them. We look forward to hearing from you.

Many of our contributing writers are always on the trail of the unusual. Richard Arnold is certainly one of those. In his article about a Wilcox-Gay radio, Richard proves himself a real sleuth. He has found an Art Deco set, no less, from a company known more for its Recordio radio-disk recorders than for radios. (See A.R.C., February 1991, for a Recordio article.) In addition, Alton DuBois shows us another unusual item — a variable capacitor with tapered plates.

Thomas Weigand's article on the Grundig-Majestic SO-191 reminds us that very often we wish we had an article on hand to answer queries about this or that company. Tom has provided just such an article about a German company, and his bio makes the topic even more interesting because it is rooted in his own history.

A number of newspaper articles about radio history and collecting submitted by readers prompted action by Managing Editor Dorothy Schecter. She has written an article encouraging you radiophiles to promote our avocation whenever you can in your local publications. The idea that there are hordes of us out there addicted to preserving old radios seems to be newsworthy more often than we realize.

Unusual designs highlight the Photo Review pages this month. Of interest is a Philips Model 930A with a European-style cathedral cabinet, as well as an all-wood, decorative Imperial Carving Co. speaker. Particularly striking is the Zenith 5R317 cabinet with its purely decorative design of glass rods.

If you've had trouble with cracking, warping pot metal castings, you'll find Alton DuBois' detailed article on recasting metal parts a useful reference. Alton is obviously a patient, careful craftsman, and we're glad to share his solution to a difficult problem.

Inspired by Ward Kremer's Espey article in the March 1998 A.R.C., Jon Oldenburg acquired a Model 581. To his surprise, he found a repainted area revealing the interesting history of the set. We'll say no more, except that Jon also found that the Espey Co. lives on.

Estes auctions are always big events — well attended and offering a fine assortment of items. This one attracted 235 bidders and took in over $32,000. Among the uncommon items were a Coinomatic coin-operated radio, a Neutrowound battery set, and an Atlantic grandfather clock. And when was the last time you saw a Zenith packing crate with a logo?

Contrasting in size, but not in importance is the Ohio Buckeye Antique Radio Club spring auction reported by Kevin Grimm. Such club activities are often the beginning of serious collecting for newcomers. Spreading the word about club auctions that do much to excite interest in our field is part of A.R.C.'s mission.

Also small in size, but raring to go, is the relatively new Virginia club — the Roanoke Antique Radio Enthusiasts or RARE. Larry Babcock reports on one of their meetings where the pleasure of face-to-face discussion surely gave the Internet competition.

The Radio Miscellanea page this month shows the broad interests of our readership. Among the topics covered are a book on the decline of the consumer electronics industry relating to radio companies, battery removal, a Stromberg-Carlson mystery, the Internet, and more. One letter reemphasizes A.R.C.'s global reach — from Australia to the U. S.

The Internet. As those of you who visit our Web site already know, A.R.C. is changing its Web host/developer for classified ads and historical auction prices. As a result of this change, the classified ads and auction prices will be temporarily unavailable. Other proposed new features have also been put on hold. All other features of the Web site that you've grown to enjoy since 1995 will still be available, so be sure to check the calendar of events, club listings, book reviews, articles from the latest issue, as well as those archived from the past four years, and the radio photo gallery.

Coming Radio Events. The summer meet season is upon us, with 50 meets being held during the month of May. Among the multiday events are the Military Radio Collector's Group 5th annual meet in California; the Houston Vintage Radio Association's Mega Auction in Texas; and the Northland Antique Radio Club and the Pavek Museum's Radio Daze 2000 in Minnesota.

Happy Collecting!

John V. Terrey, Editor

ON THE COVER

The cover photo of an early wireless station was contributed by Don Iverson who tells us that he had it for years, lost it, found it again, and rushed off to have a negative made before he lost it again! The result is our lead article. It's our good fortune that Don thought to share with us this moment in the life of some unknown person who was obviously dedicated to early wireless communication. Whoever he was, he seems to reach across the decades to share in our passion for radio.

Early Wireless Station

CONTRIBUTED BY DON IVERSON, JIM CHEW, AND JIM KREUZER

This article grew out of Don Iverson's discovery of the photo on our cover in his archives. Don told us that long ago a "picker" (a person who goes to hundreds of sales and buys things like albums) brought the photo to his shop, knowing that he collected wireless equipment. The fellow had no idea where the photo had come from and Don hasn't seen him since. The photo contents are so interesting that we've done our best to have them identified by a few wireless experts and to share their observations with you. (Editor)

This picture is so fascinating that volumes could be written from just what can be seen. The setting is obviously post-World War I and is the property of someone of more than adequate means. The components are store-bought, though the wiring leaves room for improvement, to say the least.

The mystery of who owned this station adds to the photo's interest, though it is doubtful that he was anyone who became famous. Still, one can visualize him as he pounded away on that handkey, and wonder if he ever made contact with anyone else.

It appears from the tubes and rotary spark transmitter that this high-power Ham station dates from around 1917 to 1921. Since we entered the war at the end of 1917, the Army recruiting poster on the wall is another indication of that era. The poster says,"Signal Corps Trains Men for Radio" at the top, and "U.S. Army Recruiting Office" at the bottom. The hanging lamp and the sling chair help to evoke a vision of an operator with a green eyeshade. The haphazard wires suggest that this is an amateur's wireless corner.

THE RECEIVER

The section of the cover photo in Figure 1 shows the receiver in the foreground on the bench. It uses three VT-1 tubes, which were sold as Army surplus. It also uses wooden variometers, probably in a tuned plate/tuned grid circuit — a sign of early construction. Two stages of audio amplification are also included.

In the lower right corner, two alligator clips are visible. They appear to connect to a lead-acid battery to power the tube filaments. In front of the receiver, a B battery can be seen. The headset is in front of the transmitter.

THE TRANSMITTER

The transmitter is shown in Figure 2, another section of the cover photo. A Bell rotary spark gap with a general purpose electric motor is in the center of the operating table. The rotary spark gap has been modified with the addition of an oil cap — an experimental method to improve the tone of the signal by adding a small amount of hydrocarbon vapor (kerosene, etc.) to the spark chamber. An adjustable oscillation transformer behind the gap looks as if it had been made by the William B. Duck Company. The rotary gap and oscillation transformer are connected by a metal strap.

A nice transmitting condenser is to the right of the gap, as is the sending key, which appears to be a Clapp-Eastham spark key on a marble base. This key had to be very heavily made, as it directly keyed the spark transformer primary from 110 VAC.

OTHER PHOTOS?

In all, this photo is a snapshot in time, a glimpse of how our own "radio shacks" of the 1920s might have looked. Below is another such photo, and no doubt, there are many more out there that we might all share. We invite you to send them in with as much of their history as possible. One article almost always leads to another.

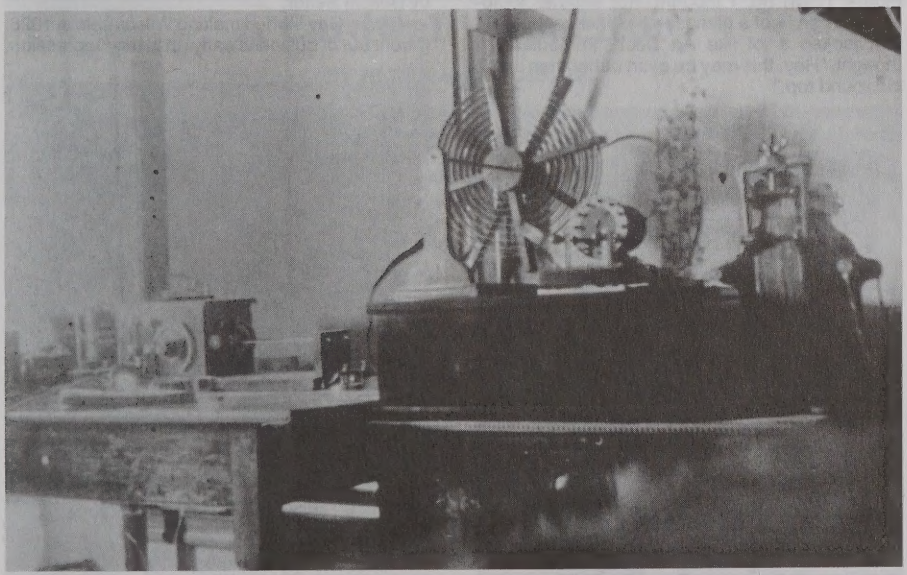
Another Early Wireless Station

FROM THE COLLECTION OF JOHN V. TERREY



A wireless station photo from your editor's collection. Unlike our cover photo, which was sent to wireless experts for comment, we invite you readers to comment on the contents of this photo — a rheostat, loose coupler, helex rotary sparkgap, etc. Help us to write a story about this photo.

WITH THE COLLECTORS

Wilcox-Gay Model A-15
"Art Moderne"

BY RICHARD ARNOLD

Richard Arnold always has interesting tales to tell about his discoveries along the radio-collecting trail. Once again he has unearthed an unusual set to share with us. (Editor)

Not long ago, I was in an antique store here in Ardmore, Oklahoma, looking at a 1947 Watterson radio, made in Texas, trying to get the owner to come down considerably from his very high (I thought) asking price of $65. All of a sudden, he said, "Oh, by the way, I have a round top radio in the back, would you be interested?"

As round tops are my life, I said yes, trying not to show too much excitement. I could just imagine an Atwater Kent, or a Peter Pan or maybe even one with a swan grille. My heart raced as he took me to the back of the store and into a junk area behind a couple of doors. He started moving things around, finally found the radio, and said, "Oops! It isn't a round top as I thought." I felt depressed. What was it?

He pulled up the wooden tombstone shown in Figure 1. Oh no, I thought, not another tombstone! Then I got a glimpse of a black metal grille that looked a lot like Art Deco. Immediately I thought, "Hey, this may be even better than some old round top."

It was an Art Deco tombstone all right. In 1920-1930, this style was often referred to as "Art Moderne" or simply "modern." The term "Art Deco" was popularized in the 1960s when a renewed interest in that art style took place. But, what is a Wilcox-Gay? Never heard of it. After looking it over some and trashing it a little — I found that it did have some minor problems. For one, it looked as if someone had cut the speaker wires.

When the dealer asked me to make him an offer, well — considering where he had it — I figured he didn't think too much of it, so I offered him $30. He took it. Wow!! I have been collecting around these parts since 1985 and what we, or at least I, don't find are Catalin and Art Deco sets. So I considered this a pretty good find.

After I got it home I tried to find out a little about the radio. In 1988, the Michigan Antique Radio Club published an article on the history of the Wilcox-Gay Company in the club newsletter. I was able to get a copy of this article, which had been researched by Dolores Osborne and written by Bessie Seiter.

Wilcox-Gay started making Wilcox sets in 1926. It went out of business early on in the Depression, but managed to make a comeback in 1932 as the Wilcox-Gay Corporation. The company stayed in business until 1963 when it filed for bankruptcy and dissolved.

THE MODEL A-15

This particular set is a Model A-15 made in 1937. I think it is beautiful. The cabinet is made of solid American walnut with a walnut veneer front panel that is set down into the cabinet so you can hardly tell that it is veneer. The front panel has wood grain in sections slanting in towards the center at an angle to form a "V" pattern. The Art Deco grille is painted black steel with gold cloth.The bottom where the dial scale is located is multicolored in pink, blue and black. It has a large, black-shouldered, painted-on skyscraper on the bottom and a dull, silver-shouldered dial pointer base with a long copper pointer to indicate the desired station.

A quick look at the radio would lead you to believe that it is just another AC/DC radio. But, a closer look reveals some interesting features. It is either a 5- or 6-tube set, depending on whether or not you are inclined to include a ballast tube in the tube count. The tube line-up consists of the following types: a 6A7 mixer/oscillator; a 78 IF amplifier; a 75 detector, 1st audio; a 43 audio output; and a 25Z5 rectifier. A Type L49B ballast tube is used in the series filament string to allow the set to operate on 120 volts.

Although the Type 25Z5 tube is a full-wave rectifier, it is used as two half-wave rectifiers in this radio. One half-wave rectifier supplies B+ to the speaker's field coil and the other rectifier section provides B+ to the radio circuitry.

Another unusual feature of the radio is the use of 115 kHz as the Intermediate Frequency — a rather low frequency usually found only in much older radios. A phonograph input is provided at the rear of the chassis.

Figure 2 shows how the jumper at the bottom is connected between the two jacks for radio operation. For phonograph operation, it is necessary to remove the jumper and plug in the audio cable from the phonograph. The radio tunes 3 bands — broadcast, shortwave and long-wave. The radio is similar to the Wilcox-Gay Model 6M6. A schematic for the Model 6M6 can be found in Rider's Volume XII, page 12-3

Since this is the only Wilcox-Gay Model A-15 I have seen in 14 years of collecting, I guess it will be a keeper.

Richard Arnold, a frequent contributor to A.R.C., has been collecting radios since 1985. Primarily interested in cathedrals and 1920s battery sets, his collection ranges from crystal sets to a 1928 American Bosch in a Pooley cabinet. The 1932 JB Peter Pan featured in the June 1991 A.R.C. is his prize.

A Cardwell Capacitor

BY ALTON A. DUBOIS, JR.

The variable capacitor shown in the two photographs below was included in a lot of old parts that I purchased a while ago. When I first saw it, I was amazed — I had never seen one like it before. Made by Cardwell, it is of standard configuration, except that the plates of both the stator and the rotor are tapered. The blades are cast aluminum, and the stator is composed of separate plates bridged together. I have no idea of its capacitance, but it is a very rugged unit.

Grundig-Majestic Model SO-191 Stereo Console

BY THOMAS J. WIEGAND

The popularity of stereo sound reproduction surged in the early 1960s, and Grundig held a respected position in the quality self-contained units. In this article, Thomas Wiegand describes an example of Grundig's products. (Editor)

Max Grundig founded the firm that bears his name in an abandoned laundry building in Fürth, Upper Bavaria, Germany, in 1947. By 1960, Grundig Werke GmbH could call itself the largest radio factory in Europe, and the world's largest tape recorder factory.

THE MODEL SO-191

At the top of the Grundig line in 1960 was the SO-191 stereo console, shown in Figure 1. Although stereo multiplex (the ability to receive FM stereo programs) was not to be until the mid-1960s, this console, and others at the time, could reproduce stereo records and tapes with the proper separation.

The console pictured is in high-gloss, straight-grained mahogany (Grundig offered choices of highly polished or satin-finish light or dark walnut, mahogany or elm). While many Grundig consoles were fitted with the Perpetuum-Ebner (PE) "Rex-A" record changer, the Elac Miracord 90 record changer was installed in the console I owned. Nothing made my old 45s sound better. The famous Multisonic tone control and the hi-fi tone control keyboard provided numerous combinations of sound impressions to one's taste.

are installed in front, while an oval tweeter is fitted in each side of the cabinet. Grundig's Model TM-45 tape deck could be installed in a space under the lid on the right in Figure 1.

The older Type EM34/35 round tuning indicator is used. A switchable ferrite antenna for AM reception shows that it is on or off by an illuminated window in the dial glass. The console is powered by 14 tubes, boasts 9 broadcast AM and 12 FM stages, and delivers a then creditable 30 watts of output power.

I noticed one design flaw. The built-in FM dipole antenna consists of two strips of aluminized paper, glued to the bottom of the cabinet, on the inside, facing up. Dust and dirt can accumulate on it, affecting reception. Cleaning the antenna periodically, therefore, could actually improve FM reception! I gave up, though, after a few attempts at this, and connected a "rabbit-ears" antenna, which was far better. (A roof-mounted antenna, of course, is best!)

The sound is exceptional, truly a room-filling sound. It defies description, but the words "breathtaking" and "incomparable" come closest. All in all, this is a massive console, measuring 57½" x 33½" x 16¼" and a true masterpiece in audio technology and furniture styling.

Thomas Wiegand's interest in German radios began at age 9 when he became aware of German consoles in friends' homes. He also became fascinated with a display of Blaupunkt table radios in the Stevens Appliance store in Woodside, N. Y. He remembers that the "Florenz" model cost $159.95! He has owned various German sets and is writing a book on German radios and hi-fi equipment for which he is always looking for photos and sales literature.

Old Radios in the News

BY DOROTHY SCHECTER

Thanks to Mal Fuller and other readers, we've recently become more aware of how often old radios are the subject of feature articles in newspapers across the country. Mal Fuller, also a contributing writer to The Weirs Times, a New Hampshire weekly, sent us his front-page article entitled "Old Radios — the Art, the Science," published December 30, 1999. Also on the front page is the cover photo of Dick Bergeron's Electron Tube Enterprises catalog. Mal's article is wide-ranging covering the history of America's love affair with radio beginning in the 1920s with home brews, early broadcasting, and early manufacturing giants.

This is the kind of article that should go far in enlightening the uninitiated about the amazing staying power of AM radio and in capturing the attention of potential new collectors. It will be interesting to know about the response Mal gets from his invitation to readers to share their early radio memories. He may also hear that some have been inspired to restore life to that old set in the attic.

From the West Coast, former A.R.C. staff member Chris Frederickson sent an article from the Pasadena Star-News entitled "Vintage Radios Fill Exhibit." This article reports on an exciting exhibit called "Sparks, Waves and Wizards" at the San Francisco Maritime Museum.

The focus of the exhibit is communications at sea, and it features gear going back to the Titanic era. By sheer chance, the historians found 77-year old John DeMeo, a former radio officer on a troopship during the Korean War. DeMeo told a harrowing story of rescuing POWs, who had been released from captivity but found themselves aboard a ship that, when hit by another vessel, tossed them into the sea.

The equipment DeMeo used is part of a display ranging from low-tech signal flags and blinker lights to high-tech gear that allows visitors to track vessels going through the bay.

Seeing A.R.C.'s name in an unexpected publication is, of course, a particular pleasure. Two readers of an Arizona publication called Active Times sent us clippings of a Q & A column written by William Arnold of Arizona State University in Tempe.

One correspondent wanted to know how to get into radio collecting. Mr. Arnold consulted Robert Grinder, well known collector and author of The Radio Collector's Directory and Price Guide. In his response, Mr. Grinder included information about A.R.C. as a great source of information for "every conceivable aspect of radio collecting." We couldn't ask for better publicity than that.

In the past, subscribers have sent us newspaper clippings ranging in subject matter from the fate of RCA's Nipper in New Jersey to profiles of collectors and repairmen. This kind of attention to radio history, as well as to current radio-related events, gives vitality to our avocation. Perhaps antique radio collectors should make a point of writing a letter of acknowledgement to the editors of publications that give our radio world a boost.

PHOTO REVIEW

This column presents in pictorial form many of the more unusual radios, speakers, tubes, advertising, and other old radio-related items from our readers' collections. The photos are meant to help increase awareness of what's available in the radio collecting hobby. Send in any size photos from your collection. Photos must be sharp in detail, contain a single item, and preferably have a light-colored background. A short, descriptive paragraph MUST be included with each photo. Please note that receipt of photos is not acknowledged, publishing is not guaranteed, and photos are not returned.

PHILIPS MODEL 930A – This 4-tube AC (mains) cathedral receiver was manufactured in London in 1930. The wood-grained cabinet is of Arbolite laminate. (Jim Taylor – Bournemouth, England)

DEUTSCHE RADIOPHON CRYSTAL SET – This unit, sold in 1923-1924, was made by Radiofak in Berlin-Cöpenick. The crystal detector is called "Red Ball." (Erwin Macho – Vienna, Austria)

DAVID GRIMES MODEL 6D – This 1926, 6-tube receiver features binocular coils. The cabinet has a pull-down, front-panel lid. (Wally Worth – Wollaston, MA)

ALL-WOOD SPEAKER – This decorative speaker was manufactured by the Imperial Carving Co., of Allegan, Michigan. It has an internal horn with a Nathaniel Baldwin driver. (John Johnson – Fowlerville, MI)

QUENCHED SPARK GAP, MANUFACTURER UNKNOWN – This piece of spark equipment sits on a walnut base and has 7 adjustable gaps with glass rod insulators. (Wally Worth – Wollaston, MA)

GLOBE MODEL MG-308 – This highly stylized rocket ship is a germanium crystal radio that tunes with a rod in the ship's nose. It was manufactured by the Globe/Miniman Radio Co. of Japan. (Harry Blesy – Hindsdale, IL)

BRUNSWICK MODEL PR-138C – This radio-phonograph combination console, called the "Panatrope," was Brunswick's top-of-the-line offering in 1926. The set consists of an RCA Radiola 28 receiver having 8 tubes, a Brunswick 78 rpm phonograph, and a built-in speaker. The AC version sold for $995, while the DC version sold for $945. (Donald S. Cockrane – S. San Francisco, CA)

ZENITH MODEL 5R317 – This is Zenith's "Glass Rod" radio of 1938. Purchased at a second-hand store for $35, it needed restoration. I replaced three of the glass rods and had repro push buttons installed. It is now in working condition. (James Apthorpe – Leesburg, FL)

Recasting Metal Parts

BY ALTON A. DuBOIS, JR.

Many collectors have at one time or another encountered a radio that plays well but contains mechanical parts that have deteriorated. Pot metal castings, because they are prone to cracking and warping, can be particularly troublesome. In this article, Alton DuBois describes his successful approach to making replacement castings. The subject of pot metal was covered in detail in earlier issues of A.R.C (February and April 1994). These articles are recommended reading for those collectors wishing to learn more about the subject. (Editor)

My Kolster Model 6D worked fine, but some of the pot metal castings were showing their age. So I thought about making new castings by using the original castings as patterns. I chose to recast the dial drive pulley assembly. Figure 1 shows the dial drive casting after I had removed the dial cord pulleys and their shafts. This assembly is complex and would be difficult to replicate by any other process. On the other hand, the mounting bracket for the radio's antenna coil is a simple one whose replacement need not be an exact reproduction. Besides, the original pot metal bracket was too far gone to be used as a pattern. So I fashioned a suitable replacement out of brass. The repaired antenna coil assembly is shown in Figure 2.

PREPARING THE CASTING

An important step in making a mold is to prepare the original casting to serve as a pattern. My first attempt at making a mold was a disaster. I discovered that the pattern could not be removed from my plaster mold because of the angles of the arms on the casting.

On close examination, I found that the casting originally had a filler that was removed after the part was cast. This filler created a smooth transition that allowed the casting to be removed without damaging the plaster mold. The pattern used to create a mold must have a uniform tapered shape called "draft" in order to slide out of the plaster mold. Figure 3 shows the location of the wax filler that I added to achieve the required taper. All holes, cracks and depressions that might otherwise fill with plaster were also filled with wax. I used paraffin as the filler material.

After cleaning and smoothing the pattern, I applied a thin coating of Vaseline to its surfaces.

MAKING THE MOLD

I did not have a box small enough to make the mold, so I made one by folding up a sheet of aluminum. Then I used duct tape to hold it together and seal it to prevent leaks. Next, I placed the prepared pattern in the mold box and clamped it in place with a spring-type clothespin, as shown in Figure 4.

Now I was ready to pour the plaster mold. Actually, I used a thin, watery mixture called Hydrocal, a product available from model railroad stores. It has the advantage of being harder than plaster of paris. I planned to make my mold in two pieces, just like the one used to pour the original casting. So I poured the Hydrocal mixture into the mold box until it reached the mold mark, or the half-way point, on the pattern. (When a 2-piece mold is used to produce a casting, the mating edges of the two molds will be reproduced in the casting and are known as mold marks).

Then I inserted two headless pins in opposite corners of the Hydrocal mixture. (Do this work quickly because the mixture sets up really fast.) These pins serve as guides to assure proper alignment of the two sections of the mold. Now, the bottom half of the mold was complete, and I allowed it to set up for 30 minutes.

After removing the clothespin and using a small brush, I carefully coated the top surface of the bottom mold, the guide pins and the exposed portion of the pattern with Vaseline. This thin coating serves to separate the two halves of the mold. Then I poured in a fresh batch of Hydrocal to complete the second half of the mold.

Once the Hydrocal had set, it was time to separate the 2-part mold. I carefully separated the two sections by prying them apart with knives inserted on opposite sides at the mold's separation point. I lifted the top half of the mold evenly so as not to disturb the mold. After the molds were separated, I removed the pattern and examined the mold's surface for broken pieces or defects caused by air bubbles. (Any imperfections can be corrected by applying Hydrocal with a thin brush. Be sure to allow the repaired areas to set up before proceeding with additional work on the mold.)

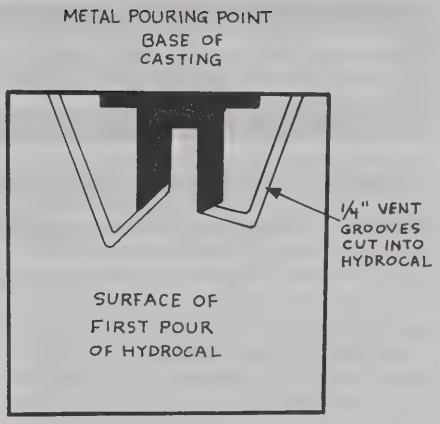

Figure 5. It is necessary to cut paths in the mold to allow air to escape when the molten metal is poured into the mold.

As the final step, I cut grooves in the mold, as depicted in Figure 5. The purpose of these grooves, or blow holes, is to allow air to escape when the molten metal is poured into the mold. Trapped air will prevent the molten metal from filling the mold completely, and a defective casting will result.

CASTING METALS AND EQUIPMENT

I chose to use type metal for the casting, although pewter or pot metal can also be used. I believe that type metal is stronger and machines better. I got my metal from an old print shop, but there are commercial suppliers, such as the MicroMark Company, Berkeley Heights, NJ 07922-1595. They sell small tools and material used by model makers.

To melt the metal, I obtained a plumber's ladle from a local plumbing shop. It holds enough metal for most small jobs and can be heated with a ladle gas gun or propane torch. I also used a box of sand to hold the mold and the ladle, as well as to catch any overflow or spillage of the molten

POURING THE CASTING

Before using the mold, I heated the two sections for about two hours to get all of the moisture out of them. (A kiln or oven can be used for this operation). Then I removed them from the oven and allowed them to cool. When they had cooled off, I aligned them and bound them together with wire.

Before pouring the casting, I reheated the mold for about 30 minutes to bake out any moisture. (The mold should be hot when the molten metal is poured.)

Using the box of sand and equipment described above, I melted more type metal than I thought I might need because only a single pour is allowed, and I did not want to run short. Next, I poured the molten type metal into the mold and held the blade of a putty knife over the edge of the ladle's spout to prevent surface slag from entering the mold. When the mold was filled, I allowed it to cool for about 30 minutes. After the cooling period, I opened the mold and found that the casting was a satisfactory duplicate of the mold. Of course, the casting needed some cleaning and the "splash" from the vent holes had to be removed.

FINAL MACHINING

At last, I was ready for the final touches. The holes for the pulley shafts and the four base mounting screws needed to be drilled. Because of the angled arms on the casting, I used an adjustable vise to hold the casting in the proper position for the drill press. I drilled the holes for the shafts slightly undersized and then rebored them to fit their shafts.

I was unable to salvage the original shafts and had to machine new ones. I machined the new shafts with a shoulder so that the pulleys would be spaced from the arms of the casting and would turn freely. Then I drilled the four mounting holes similar to the original casting. With the new pulley assembly in place, I restrung the dial cord. The final product is shown in Figure 6 — it works fine.

More on the Espey 581

BY JON OLDENBURG

After reading Ward Kremer's article on Espey Radios in the March 1998 issue of Antique Radio Classified, I decided that I must obtain an Espey Model 581 for myself. Well, a bit over a year later in August 1999, I found one in a shop in Illinois. When I got the radio home, I discovered some interesting facts about it.

While cleaning the cabinet, I found that the radio had been relabeled. The Espey logo and model number were silk screened over a repainted area through which the United States Signal Corps designation number for this radio could be barely made out. The markings were partly obliterated by the Espey logo. Through research and the chance appearance of an Army marked radio on eBay, I was able to piece the following information together:

The Espey Model 581.

The Espey Model 581s were, in fact, overruns of a government contract for a receiver the army designated as "Radio Receiver R-100/URR." This radio was produced for the Army in some number by Espey Mfg. Inc., Bendix, and possibly also Zenith. Its primary use was as a World War II morale or troop entertainment receiver. It operates from either batteries or 115 volts.

The Zenith Trans-Oceanic R-520 receiver replaced this radio in 1954. There are no records of the R-100/URR being produced after 1945. The markings on my particular radio indicate that Espey had left over government contract radios which it relabeled with its own company data for civilian sales at the end of the war.

A further check on Espey Manufacturing Inc. revealed that the company is still in business in New York. Its primary business continues to be providing technical electronics for U.S. military contracts.

Roanoke Antique Radio Enthusiasts Meet
Smith Mountain Lake, Virginia — October 2, 1999

BY LARRY BABCOCK

A rare time was had by all at the Roanoke Antique Radio Enthusiasts (RARE) meet at the home of my twin brother, Ted Babcock on Smith Mountain Lake near Roanoke, Virginia, on October 2, 1999.

RARE is a relatively new club having been in existence for only about two years. Its major activities include semiannual flea markets and visiting a collector's home to socialize and view his collection. This meeting was of the latter type.

This club is just getting started and presently has about a dozen members. In my discussions with them, I found that they were indeed "enthusiastic," as the club name implies. Most are into collecting various categories of AC sets. All of them are active on the Internet and dealing for artifacts on eBay. That appears to be the way of the future, but I hate to see it happen because I enjoy so much meeting with other collectors and discussing antique radio with them. What's the fun of buying a set over the Internet, unpacking it when it is delivered by UPS, and just setting the item on the shelf?

The topic of prices was discussed. Several told me that they felt the prices in Marty Bunis' book: Collector's Guide To Antique Radios–Fourth Edition are very low, "by a factor of about four!" Others felt that Marty did a pretty good job of estimating the current value of old radios, but that the difference between antique radio meet prices and Internet prices is growing. Artifacts sell for much more on the Internet. I guess that would make the Net a better place to sell than to buy unless you are looking for the really rare items and are rich enough not to care what the price is!

Ted made a very nice place to display his collection when he added a 2-car garage to his house. In the process he also added a very large finished room on the second floor about the same size as the 2-car garage. He collects everything that interests him, but his real specialty is Stromberg-Carlson because he worked for Stromberg a number of years as an electronic engineer.

There were a total of nine people at this meet. That is enough to have as guests in your home at one time, and it was a fun activity. They say that the spring and fall flea markets attract more people and that even Ed Bell from Raleigh, North Carolina, sometimes comes and sets up to sell some very nice items.

AUCTION REPORT

Estes Vintage Radio Auction
Seville, Ohio — November 20, 1999

CONTRIBUTED BY RICHARD ESTES

Estes Auctions held another of its successful vintage radio auctions at the Seville Antique Auction Barn in Seville, Ohio, on November 20, 1999. A beautiful fall day welcomed 235 bidders from 11 different states. The sale totalled over $32,000.

The surprise of the day was a Hammarlund HQ-180 receiver selling at $475. Other highlights were an unusual, beetle plastic Coinomatic radio selling at $950, a Neutrowound at $400, a Westinghouse RA-DA at $600, and an Atlantic grandfather clock radio at $450. Tube prices were also good.

The following is a representative list of the items offered.

The Buckeye Antique Radio and Phonograph Club Spring Auction

Brunswick, Ohio — March 5, 2000

REPORTED BY KEVIN GRIMM

The Buckeye Antique Radio and Phonograph Club (BARPC) held its annual spring auction at the Brunswick Public Library in Brunswick, Ohio. There were 17 registered bidders from as far away as Columbus, Ohio, and Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania. Auctioneer Kim Graca, the club treasurer, kept the sale moving at a brisk pace with 81 lots selling in about an hour and a half. Sales totalled $817.

There were fewer high-quality items than in previous auctions, as box lots of assorted parts, tubes, test equipment, etc., seemed to be the result of spring cleaning by club members. Still, there were some highlights, including a Zenith 4B131, 6-volt tombstone farm set selling at $50, a Crosley Showbox and Dynacone speaker at $55, and a G-G-H Majestic speaker with a black celluloid horn in good condition, except for the open driver, for $45.

The next BARPC auction will be held on November 5, 2000, at the Brunswick Library. Watch the A.R.C. calendar for details.

A sampling of the items sold follows. Many of the items not listed were box lots selling in the $1-10 range. Prices are rounded down to the nearest dollar.

Stromberg-Carlson Mystery

Dear Editor:

In the 1930s, some Stromberg-Carlson radios had what they called "Carpinchoe" speakers. The edge support of the speaker cone is a ring of thin, flexible leather, which they called "Carpinchoe leather." I am intrigued by the name "Carpinchoe." If anyone out there knows the origin of this word, please let me know so I can sleep nights.

Global Connection via A.R.C

Dear Editor:

My most sincere thanks for your kindness in helping me in a totally unexpected situation — I was unable to connect with a New Jersey collector. Repeatedly, the New Jersey operator claimed that the telephone number I had was nonexistent!

When I contacted your good selves, I received instant understanding and assistance, and all with kindness and courtesy. You turned an unbelievable situation into one of real harmony — you don't get much of that these days.

May your days be long and happy ones!

John Holmes, Midland, Western Australia

Our staff member managed to get both parties on the line at the same time and acted as a go-between! Note, however, we do not give out telephone numbers. (Editor)

Seeks Collins Auto-Tune Info

Dear Editor:

For years, I worked for the RCA Service Company with former Navy electronics men. I remember hearing them mention admiringly a "Collins auto-tune." Does anyone know what that was and how it worked?

Fall of the U.S. Electronics Industry

Dear Editor:

Recently, I came across a book that I found very interesting. Some of your readers might find it so also.

The title is The Fall of the U.S. Consumer Electronics Industry by Philip J. Curtis, Quorum Books, Westport Conn., London 1994, ISBN 0-89930-880-5.

The book is written from the perspective of Zenith and follows its eventually successful antitrust suit against RCA and its patent pool. The author also alleges that RCA deliberately reformed its patent pool in Japan, intentionally undermining the U. S.

Another point made by the author is the conscious refusal of successive American administrations to enforce the antidumping laws, eventually destroying our consumer electronics industry.

I don't know enough about the issues involved to make a judgement about the validity of the author's arguments, but it was certainly an interesting read.

Battery Removal Warning

Dear Editor:

In going through some stuff in storage, I came upon an Army test set AN/PTM-3 that reminded me of my National Guard signal repairman days in 1953. To my immense chagrin, there were BA-30 batteries in the Automatic Electric EE-8-A field telephone that is part of the PTM-3. They, of course, were badly corroded. Moral: Take all batteries out of electric equipment not in use — right now! This message should be printed on a regular basis.

Computerization — A Mad Trend

Dear Editor:

I got my first computer in early 1999. I have had considerable trouble with it, since it had faulty software, logic board and modem, which had to be replaced. A lot of people like me get computers but cannot use them because of either malfunctions or the tedious process of learning how to use them.

So, I hope you do not give up the printed pages of A.R.C., or a lot of people will be shut out. Perhaps a grassroots movement of angry people will put the brakes on this mad trend of increasing computerization in this country.

A.R.C. — The Interchange of Ideas

Dear Editor:

Wow! What a surprise it was to open my mailbox and find my Zenith on the front cover of A.R.C.!

This has indicated to me and fellow collectors that your commitment to providing an "interchange of ideas and information" is serious and appreciated. When I submitted the article and photos, I never dreamed the project would be considered suitable for the cover story.

Thanks again for such a fine publication. I hope my next submission will also be found suitable to share with fellow readers.

MHRBS Disbanded

Dear Editor:

On April 10, 1999, the Mississippi Historical Radio and Broadcasting Society (MHRBS) held its last meeting at which the members voted to dissolve the club and cease all activities.

President Randy Guttery and Vice-President Bill Gerk proposed the dissolution of the club because participation had fallen to its lowest level in the club's history — 16 dues paying members of which only 8 attended the April 10, 1999, annual meeting.

All assets of the MHRBS were transferred to the Alabama Historical Radio Society and its Don Kresge Memorial Antique Radio Museum.

Vacuum Tube Repair Wafers

These tube repair wafers are solid-state devices for quick and easy repair of early vacuum tubes. The wafer is installed by simply sliding it over the tube pins and reinserting the tube into its socket. If the filament is intact, but there is little or no emission, the filament may be lit for best visual effect. However, the tube can be open filament.

No change in radio operating voltages is required. Any number of tubes may be repaired in a radio. If wafers are installed on all tubes, the B+ voltage may usually be reduced without sacrificing volume or sensitivity. Performance will vary between radio models.

$10.00/each ($7.50/ea. 3 or more)

Antique Radio Power Supply

The H15/ H16 power supplies operates most tube type battery radios from low cost batteries. The H15/H16 steps up the voltage from a 6V battery to provide 22.5V, 45V, and 90VDC for the "B" voltage requirements.

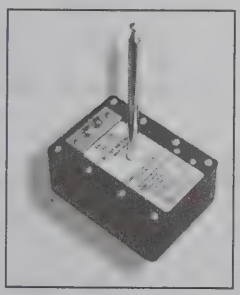
A very desirable feature of the H15/H16 is the method of switching power on and off. This function is provided by the switch on the radio. No radio modification required.

The "A" voltage required by the radio can be from "C" or "D" flashlight batteries or from a 6V gelled electrolyte battery when operating 5V tubes. When operating 1.5, 2, or 3V tubes the H15/H16 can be powered by 4 "C" or "D" flashlight batteries or from a 6V gelled electrolyte battery. The gelled electrolyte battery can operate both the H15/H16 and the 6V "A" supply for 5V tubes from one battery.

Order the H15 of parallel filaments or the H16 for series filaments.

The compact size, 4"X4"X3/4", allows the unit to be installed with batteries in the battery compartment of most radios.

H15 or H16: $99.50. Accessories: "D" cell holders: $6.00 per set. 6V 10AH battery $31.00. Battery charger $45.00. 1.5 - 90V socket $9.50.



Active Antenna

Allows antique radios which were designed for a long wire outdoor antenna to operate on a 42" indoor whip antenna. Portable, operates from a 9 volt battery.

CLASSIFIED ADVERTISING POLICY

ONE FREE 20-WORD AD for subscribers in each issue; additional words are 29¢ each. See details below. Classified ads sent by mail, fax, e-mail or by any other method must be received (not just postmarked!) by Noon Eastern Time on the classified ad deadline date to guarantee inclusion in the current issue. Late ads are held for the following issue. Please enclose correct payment with all ads. Stamps or cash are OK for small amounts. (Canadian and other foreign advertisers, please see "Payment" on page 2 for methods.) "Free words" cannot be accumulated from month to month; free words must be requested when ad is submitted.

Faxed & e-mailed ads: Please see additional information on the inside front cover.

When including ads with other A.R.C. correspondence, write the ads on a separate piece of paper. Include SUB# with ad. Ads may be sent in advance; but, write each ad on a separate piece of paper and indicate the month (or successive two months) you want the ad to run.

To minimize our typing errors: Please write legibly. Use both capital and small letters. Do not use a dash between words. Carefully write the following numbers and letters (especially in model numbers) since some can look alike; for example 1, I and l (the number one, the capital i and the small L.) Also: 0, O , o, Q and D; r and n; 6, b and G; V, U, u, v and Y; A and R; 5, S and s; 2, Z and z. We try to correct spelling errors, so when using an uncommon word or manufacturer which we might mistake as a more common word or manufacturer, note it so that we do not "correct" it. Editor's annotations are in [brackets].

Advertising is accepted only for early items related to radio, communication, etc. All items must be described fairly; reproductions, reprints and not-original items must be so identified. Advertisers must agree to respond promptly to inquiries and orders, to resolve problems promptly if the buyer is not satisfied, and to comply with a buyer's refund request on unaltered returned items.

The publisher reserves the right to edit ads without notification to the advertiser and to reject ads for any reason. Names other than the advertiser will be edited out of ads. Ads with non-radio-related items will be returned or edited unless the non-radio-related items are for trade of radio-related items, or they are incidental to and appear at the end of an otherwise acceptable ad. The publisher is not responsible for errors due to illegibly written ads or for any other reason. See also Publishing Rights on page 2.

Clubs: Since club activities receive free coverage on the Coming Radio Events pages, the free 20 words may not be used for club activity ads. A discount on display advertising is available for clubs.

CLASSIFIED AD DETAILS

Deadline: NOON ET– 10th of the month!

Classified ads must have a standard heading such as WANTED, FOR SALE, FOR TRADE, FOR SALE/TRADE, SERVICES, MESSAGE, HELP, AUCTION, MEET, etc. This heading is the only bold or all-capitalized words allowed in the ad. Capitalize only manufacturer names, model names, etc. This standard ad format makes scanning the ads easier.

Before writing your ad, please look over the ads in a recent issue of A.R.C., and try to write your ad in the same style. Full name (or company name) and address is required in all classified ads; we will add it if you forget.

To encourage varied content of the ads, the same classified ad may be run only once per issue and for only two consecutive months. (To run an ad longer, use a boxed classified or display ad.)

Classified Ad Rates per Month

Subscribers:
- First 20 words: FREE
- 29¢ per word for extra words over 20 plus
- 10¢ per word for a shaded ad (count all words including free words).
- * Subscribers may take 20 free words on only one ad each month.

Non-Subscribers:
- 47¢ per word plus
- 10¢ per word for shaded ad.

Please do not forget to send in the extra 29¢ per word when your classified ad runs over the free 20 words; your payment will be appreciated, and it will help to keep A.R.C. healthy.

BOXED CLASSIFIED AD DETAILS

Deadline: 1st of the month!

Boxed classified ads can run unchanged for three months or more. No words are free. Ads may be shaded and may include bold and all-capitalized words freely. The ad need not begin with "For Sale," etc. Minimum run is 3 months, prepaid. Discount: 10% for 6 months; 20% for 12 months.

Boxed Classified Ad Rates per Month

Nonshaded ads:
- 40¢ per word for all words,* none free, plus
- 10¢ per word for each bold word plus
- 10¢ per word for each all-caps word.

Shaded Ads (All words are bold at no charge):
- 50¢ per word for all words* plus
- 10¢ per word for each all-caps word.

Non-Subscribers:
- Add 20¢ per word to above costs.

*Three words can be bold-all-caps at no extra charge.

Deadline: 1st of the month for all ads with drawings or photos!

Drawings and photos are encouraged as the response to your ad is much larger and the reader knows better what you want or are selling. Send in your drawing or photograph, and A.R.C. will reduce it or enlarge it as needed.

$23.00 per month for each photo or drawing
(If ad is canceled, this amount cannot always be refunded.)

CHANGES & CANCELLATIONS

Please check your ads carefully before sending them in. Once ads are received, it is not always possible to refund the amount sent, pull the ad or make changes.

IMPORTANT — COUNTING WORDS — IMPORTANT

The standard headings: WANTED, FOR SALE, etc., count as one word each time used in an ad. Name, address and (one) telephone number, count as 6 words, regardless of length. Ham call letters and business name can be included in the 6 words and do not count extra. Full name (or company name) and address is required in all classified ads. Each additional word, abbreviation, model number or number group, extra telephone numbers, fax, e-mail, etc. count as one word each. Hyphenated words count as two words.
